"Under the City Lamps" is the name of a new melodrama that is to cost $20,000. Whether any special discount will be allowed for cash payment is, of course, not stated. It is also not specified what it is under the city ismps to which the melodrama re-ers. It is probably the meditative and unsuspecting policeman.

The Montana statue episode is to be intro-duced by George W. Monroe into the farce-comedy called "Aunt Bridget's Baby." Mon-roe will pose as the beauty to whom the govered honor has been offered—for a con-sideration. . . .

Mr. Horning, of "The Ensign" company, says that he only makes a biuff at tearing down the American flag when he has to say: "The contempt. I feel for this rag can best be shown by tearing it down and trampling it under foot." Never at any performance of the play has the flag been beneath his heel. This is very nice to know—quite reassuring, in fact.

The next attraction at Herrmann's Theatre will be Miss Marion Manoia and her hubby Jack Mason. This interesting couple have been persistently attarring all season, and report has sponen very well-of them. Their enterprise was at first looked upon with supreme scorn by the Rialto wiseacres.
